

Scope is a family of programs that allow for the visual interactive building and training of artificial neural networks.